

Marketing Automation as a Service (MAaaS)

NEXT LEVEL MARKETING AUTOMATION, POWERED BY MARKETO

Leadous has partnered with Marketo to bring best in class automation into the hands of those that are evaluating marketing automation platforms through the introduction of MAaaS - giving everyone the opportunity to leverage automation and experience the value.

Marketing automation has never been more important as technology has become the driving force behind marketing engagement. This MAaaS program will help you drive business results and increase customer engagement, while being supported by certified automation experts who leverage best practices to drive results.

Do you ask yourself one of these questions?

- What marketing automation features do I need?
- Is it the best time for me to fully commit to a marketing automation platform?
- Have I outgrown the platform that I have been using?
- Do I have the expertise on my team to run my automation initiative?
- What business case can I build to move to a more powerful platform?

This model works best for companies that see a vision for marketing automation and want to take a step by step approach to ensuring they have all of the components in place to fully leverage the breadth of features and capabilities of Marketo.

MAaaS gives organizations the ability to fill all of the gaps, test, refine and plan for an expanded use of Marketo and its powerful features that drive digital demand generation - all the while proving ROI and building the business case for Marketo.

Take your marketing results to the next level with the platform that drives business results faster.

MAaaS has three tiers based on organization complexity and database size and are priced to provide the resources, time and investment necessary to drive results and prove ROI.
